EUROPEAN TRAVEL GROWING AT VERY RAPID RATE.

AT VERY RAPID RATE,

Mr. Samuel H. Bowman, the steamship and tourist agent, states the European travel this season is the largest ever known from this section of the country. Mr. Bowman booked nineteen people the past, two days, and is having inquiries almost daily for certain steamers on which he cannot give accommodations on account of ships being booked full for weeks ahead.

Mr. Bowman has perfected arrangements by which he will receive telegrams advising the arrivals and docking of the various steamers at their plers in New York. This is a convenience that has never been afforded Richmond heretofore.

GREAT SCARCITY OF LABOR

One Farmer Writes That He Has Twenty Cows and Nobody to Milk Them.

HOUGH the Department of Agriculture is already receiving more applications for labor than there are immigrants to be supplied Commissioner Koiner is gratified over the large number of requests for the Hand Book, which contains valuable information for hyneseekers.

Some rather novel facts are related in letters coming to the department from farmers and others sadly in need of help. One man, whose case would be amusing were it not so distressing, wrote yesterday that he had twenty cows and nobody to milk them. He said that he could not attend to a score twice a day; that he was without labor, and that he would be under overlasting obligations if the department could zend him a few thrifty immigrants.

Scrubbed the Floor.

Another farmer stated in a letter to the commissioner that he had lost a rich field of hay because of his irability to secure labor to harvest it.

There was one request yesterday from the Piedmont section for twenty-five families. The application, along with the rate of wages to be paid, was properly filed and will have early consideration.

The vice-president of a bank in the same part of the State reports that labor is so scarce that much of the rough work around the house falls upon his shoulder. While his wife was sick last week he was forced to scrub the dining-room floor and barely completed the jeb in time to be present at a meeting of his bank directors.
